

THE BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

ALL THE NEWS THAT'S FIT TO PRINT.

VOL. XXXI.

CLOVERPORT, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1907.

8 Pages

NO. 32

CIRCUIT COURT GOES AFTER CLOVERPORT SALOONKEEPERS

Twenty-Two Indictments Issued Against Latter
For Violating Local Option Laws.

MUST APPEAR IN COURT TO-DAY TO ANSWER SUMMONS.

Warrants Served On Defendants Monday Night--First Action of Like Nature Ever Before Breckenridge Courts.

The saloon-keepers of Cloverport have been summoned to appear before the Circuit Court, now in session at Hardinsburg, to answer to indictments charging them with selling whisky in local option territory.

Twenty-two charges have been filed in the Circuit Court and it is to answer these indictments that the proprietors of the saloons in Cloverport have been summoned to Hardinsburg to-day.

In a recent contest Judge Weed S. Chief handed down his opinion to the effect that the election resulting in giving saloons a license to operate was illegal. The whisky people have appealed the case to the higher courts.

Commonwealth's Attorney J. R. Layman is prosecuting against the alleged violators of local option under section 1241 of the Kentucky statutes. It is said that this is the first case where action of a similar nature has ever come before a court in Breckenridge county.

ALLOWED MORE SPEED

Trains No Longer Compelled to Do the "Snail" Act Through Cloverport.

At a call meeting of the City Council on Monday night the town ordinance requiring a speed of six hours by all trains in passing through the corporate limits of Cloverport was repealed.

An ordinance allowing a speed of fifteen miles an hour for all passenger trains and twelve miles for freights was passed.

NOT KNOWN HERE.

Young Man Named Title Said to Have Obtained Money Here
By Forging Checks.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 15.—While making application to join the army, a young man giving his name as Samuel Title and claiming to be from Perry county, Ind., was arrested here this morning on the charge of forgery. Title, it is claimed by the officers who arrested him, is wanted in a number of towns along the river between this city and Louisville, where by means of forged checks, it is alleged, he secured sums of money ranging from $25 to $200. He is wanted, the officers say, in Cloverport, Havensville, Lewisport, Shepherdport and several other places. Title denies he is the man wanted. He looks like a country boy.

The local bankers and merchants say that they have cashed no forged checks, and the name of Title is unfamiliar to the people hereabouts.

Lenten Services at St.

Rose Catholic Church.
Every morning during Lent seven o'clock mass will be held at the Catholic church in the West End. On Sunday's the mass will be held at 10 a. m. Friday afternoon "The Way of the Cross" services followed by benediction will be observed at three o'clock. Father Brey will announce later the services for Good Friday.

"Aunt Polly" Board Dead.
Death removed an old citizen of Cloverport on last Saturday when "Aunt Polly" Board, a respected colored woman, passed into the great beyond. "Aunt Polly" was respected by every one and was a relic of ante bellum days.

"Corner Drug Store" Sold.

Mr. Wm. Dittus has sold his drug store at Brandenburg to Baskett & Bewley. Mr. Dittus' place was known as the "Corner Drug Store" and is one of the best business stands in that town.

CASTORIA.
The Last New Drug Supply from the West
at HARDINSBURG

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS LODGE

Give Annual Banquet to Members and Their Families Last Night.

Last night in the spacious halls of the Oelze building, on Main street, the annual banquet of the Knights of Pythias was held. It was a gorgeous affair and one that will in years to come be looked back upon with memories pleasant by those in attendance.

The number in attendance was estimated at between 200 and 250. The large gathering was made up of the local Knights of Pythias, their families and the visiting members of the Order. An address was delivered by Prof. J. P. King on matters pertaining to the success of the Order and invocations were offered by Rev. B. M. Currie and J. T. Lewis. Several toasts were made by the various members, and withal it was an event rarely equalled in Cloverport lodge circles.

The tables abounded with delicacies and the refreshments served were delicious.

The evening's festivities lasted until the stroke of twelve.

CLIMBING LADDER OF SUCCESS RAPIDLY.

George Dean Leaves Loftis Bros.,
Chicago, to Accept a More Responsible and Lucrative Position in Ohio.

George F. Dean, a former Cloverport boy, who has charge of the mail order business of Loftis Bros., & Co., Chicago, diamond importers and manufacturing jewellers, has resigned his position as sales manager of the Monroe Refrigerator Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a more responsible and lucrative place.

George has many friends here who are proud to learn of his success. He is a relative of Miss Drews Gregory.

Valentine Birthday Party.

Mrs. John Weisenburg gave a valentine party to celebrate the thirteenth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Edna, at their home Thursday afternoon. Delightful amusements were furnished for the guests and valentine favors were given them. A repast of many good things to eat were enjoyed by those present, who were: Louise Lewis, Isabelle Barn, Ula and Lillian McCracken, Bertha Perkins, Rosa Newton, Ruby Hawkins, Pearl Agnew and Forrest Dryden Weatherholt.

DIED MONDAY.

Mrs. Charlotte Hallow, widow of Jno. Hallow, died at her home in the Roberts bottoms, Monday evening. Deceased was sixty old years of age and was an estimable woman. She is survived by three sons—Marion, Alvis and W. M. Hallow—all of whom reside in the neighborhood.

LEAVES LARGE FAMILY.

Mrs. M. M. Embry, aged about forty years, died at her home, four miles south of town, last Wednesday afternoon, of a complication of diseases. She leaves a husband and eight children.

Mrs. Randall Here.

From Saturday until Monday, Mrs. J. B. Randall and son, Dwight, were here from Louisville, the guests of Misses Ree and Martha Willis. Mrs. Randall has a host of friends in Cloverport, especially among the young girls and her visits are always a pleasure to them.

L. H. & St. L. Rates.

One way Colonist Rates to California and the North-West and Old Mexico, March 1 to April 30. Sept. 1 to Oct. 31 1907.

Commenting upon the act of the Cloverport, Ky., citizens and officials adding up a coal train recently on the Henderson Route, the Hawesville Clarion says: "If those people drink the kind of booze they loaned us during the high water they'll tackle the pay train next." Better warn the treasurer of the road to put all the company's money in the safe and forget the combination.—Cannelton Enquirer.

Preston sells Lewisport flour, the best in the market.

When the Children come home from School. They usually want something from the pantry. You remember the hunger you had—Home cooking counts for much in the child's health; do not imperil it with alum food by the use of poor baking powder. Have a delicious, pure, home-made muffin, cake or biscuit ready when they come in. To be sure of the purity, you must use ROYAL BAKING POWDER. Royal makes a difference in your home—a difference in your health—a difference in your cooking. ROYAL is absolutely Pure.

HELP FRAMING THE NEW LAWS

D. G. Harned a Member of the Constitutional Convention of Oklahoma.

The constitutional convention which is now in session in Oklahoma for the purpose of framing the new laws of Uncle Sam's recently admitted Commonwealth has many Kentuckians in that body. Among them is Mr. D. G. Harned, formerly of Breckenridge county.

Mr. Harned went from near Hardinsburg to Oklahoma in 1903, and is now settled at Ringwood, where he is engaged in farming and stock raising.

It is a distinguished honor seldom befalling a man to be chosen as a delegate to help frame the first laws of a new State, and this befitting recognition of Mr. Harned's ability should be highly appreciated by him.

In the convention he is a member of the following committees: Education, Privileges and Elections, State and School Lands, Enrollment, Liquor Traffic and Public Health and Sanitation.

Rev. Thomas, an Owensboro

Minister Will Assist in a Revival.

The fourth Sunday in March a series of revival meetings will begin in the M. E. church. Rev. B. M. Currie, the pastor, has secured the services of the Rev. Frank Thomas, of Owensboro. Rev. Thomas is one of the leading ministers of the Louisville conference.

Colonial Supper at Ekron.

The Ladies' Aid of Ekron Baptist church will give a Colonial Supper, in the hall over the bank on Friday night, February 22. Everybody invited. A good time promised to all present and a splendid old time supper for 25c.

The Hearts Carnival given by the Epworth League St. Valentine's night was a novel affair and heartily enjoyed by those present. The social was given in the Sunday school room and parlors of the Methodist church. One of the features of the carnival was a large heart of red cardboard on the wall which was pierced with arrows by blind-folded persons whose object was to pierce the heart directly in its center. Mrs. B. M. Currie was the only one who placed an arrow in the destined point. Miss Margaret Moorman was crowned queen of hearts and Mr. Ira Behen was made king during the evening. Heart sandwiches and hot coffee were served to the guests.

Miss Margaret Burn, David Phelps and Chas. Fallon assisted Miss Lula Severs in the management of the entertainment.

S. W. CASEY

Dies at Vine Grove at Ripe Old Age--Formerly Lived at Big Spring.

Mr. S. W. Casey died at Vine Grove, Hardin county, of senility, aged about eighty years. For many years he was a merchant and tobacco dealer, but for the past few years he had retired from active business, having accumulated considerable money.

Mr. Casey formerly lived at Big Spring and is well known to the people of Breckenridge county. He was a member of the Methodist church and was a valuable citizen.

65,000 FEET OF WHITE OAK LOGS

Valued at $1,500 Towed to Evansville Monday by the Borealis for Seaton & Weatherholt

The raft of logs that has been tied up at the mouth of Clover Creek for two weeks was towed to Evansville Monday by the Borealis. The raft contained 65,000 feet of white oak logs valued at $1,500, and was sold to a firm in Evansville by Seaton & Weatherholt, the owners. The raft was made up about seventeen miles up the creek and is the largest one floated down this year. Seaton & Weatherholt say there are more to come.

NEWS NOTES FROM McQUADY.

Len Taul went to Hardinsburg Monday on business.

Dr. Sandback bought a fine saddle and harness horse from J. W. Mattingly last week.

G. S. Wilson was notified by the Interior Department that he was a successful bidder for a quarter section of land in Oklahoma.

"Coy" Pate, the popular drummer, was here last week.

Frank Lyons bought a horse of G. W. Ekridge last Saturday for $600.

Misses Jessie Ryan and Beanie Sheeran of Tarfork, spent last week here with their cousin, Miss Annie Askins.

Miss Myrtle Potts was the guest of Miss Lula Shreveberry last Sunday.

The Hardinsburg and Jolly Station Telephone Co. has been reorganized and rebuilt by Walter Wilson and is now in excellent condition.

Mr. and Mrs. David Crews spent last Sunday in the country, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Newby.

HUNTER-LEWIS WEDDING

At Hardinsburg--Fair Board Members
New Pension Law--Real Estate Transfer.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Feb. 19.—(Special).—The Board of Directors of the Breckenridge Fair Association held an important meeting Monday. Those present were Willis Green, F. J. Hook, C. V. Robertson, G. N. Lyddan, Jesse Howard, Jno. D. Shaw, Jno. P. Haswell, Jr., and the Secretary of the Board, M. H. Beard. The president, C. V. Robertson, entertained the board at dinner at the Commercial Hotel.

The marriage of Miss Mamie Hunter of Continental, O., to Mr. Wave Lewis was solemnized at St. Ronald's by the Rev. Wm. L. Gabe, at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, Feb'y 12, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will visit with the groom's parents a few weeks and will then take up their permanent residence at Continental, O. They were entertained at dinner Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Lewis. The News extends heartiest congratulations.

The McCumber Service Pension bill has passed both houses of Congress, has been signed by the President and is now a law. It provides that all persons who served ninety days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the Civil war or sixty days in the Mexican war, and who were honorably discharged, will be pensioned at $12 per month if such person has reached the age of sixty-two years; at $15 per month, if seventy years of age, and at $20 per month if seventy-five years of age. No disability of the soldier need be alleged or proved.

Chapman Moorman has sold to Mrs. Mary M. Chambliss the tract of land he purchased of the Fair Association two weeks ago. He paid $1000 for it and sold it for $1100. Mrs. Chambliss will move here about April 1.

Partners of the Tide

JOSEPH C. LINCOLN
Author of "Cap'n Ez"

Copyright, 1906, by A. B. Barnes & Co.

"Now, then, Brad," he said, "we'll see what"

But two mammoth paws clasped his wrists, the hand with the revolver was turned backward till the barrel pointed at the end of the gun and Brad Swensen's voice said calmly:

"Yuh, I guess not. Yeek wait a minute. Mr. Burke. Mr. Neekwait, a minute to let him, hey?"

It was mutiny, of course, mutiny pure and simple, but Bradley had no time to turn back to look over his shoulder.

"Take him to the cabin," he said, "tell the doctor to see that he doesn't break out. Then come back to me. Yes, you may have the revolver."

Swensen twisted the pistol from the first mate's hand and then, picking him up as he would a ten-year-old boy, started for the cabin. Burke struggled furiously and swore like a wild man, but he couldn't break away. The shouts grew fainter and then were muffled almost entirely by the closing of the stateroom door.

Bradley put the revolver in his pocket.

"Now, then, men," he said, "I'm skipper of this schooner for the rest of this voyage. Is there anybody here that doesn't understand it? All right. O'Leary, go for the doctor. Peter, son, leave the deck. Swensen, as the big Swede came up the ladder, 'take the wheel and keep her steady.'"

All that morning until daylight sent the fog rolling to the north in tumbled clouds the lead was going, and the crew were busy on the deck.

Bradley stood close at Swensen's elbow and edged her out, feeling his way with the lead and listening to the calls of the fog horns.

His foot power was kept tooting, and by and by, as they got out into the ship channel, it was answered by other horns and bells, some close aboard, some distant.

But by breakfast time it was clear and fine, and before a crackling wind, the schooner walked along as if she realized her escape and was trying to show her gratitude. Through that day Bradley stood by the wheel, only leaving to eat a mouthful of food.

After Captain Titcomb, who was much improved and beginning to ask questions. And just at dusk the big dome of the Boston stateroom shone dimly in the dying light, and the Thomas Donee, resting from her labors, moved rapidly behind the ship's up to her neck. She had made splendid time, but Bradley was far from happy. There was trouble coming, and he knew it.

He went down to the deck, ordering the latter to unlock the stateroom door and release the imprisoned first mate. A minute later the cook came on deck, his eyes shining with excitement.

"Mr. Burke, he got right into the skipper's room and shut the door," whispered the Portuguese. "And now they talk, talk, talk. And Mr. Burke is sweat all his face."

When the first mate appeared he didn't speak to any one, but he jumped to his wheel and hurried away. A doctor was sent for and Captain Titcomb's wound was dressed. The physician said the injury was not serious. There was no concussion of the brain, and the patient would be all right in a couple of days.

Bradley didn't sleep much that night. Next morning the captain sent for him. When the second mate entered the stateroom he found the skipper sitting on the side of the berth with a log fastened on his head, but looking very bright and like himself.

He seemed oddly embarrassed when Bradley came in. For a moment or two he did not speak. The second mate, who had expected a scolding rebuke and was prepared to meet it, was surprised at the mildness of the first remark.

"Now, then, Brad," said Captain Titcomb, "set down. What's this about you and the mate? Tell the whole yarn, first and last."

So Bradley told it just as it happened—the crew's behavior, his suspicions, the sighting of the light and what followed.

"Humph," Captain Ezra nodded. "Yuh, that's about what Burke said. Now, Brad, I s'pose you knew that Mr. Burke was your superior officer and that what he said was law for you, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir, but—"

"Never mind the 'buts' now. Taking command by force is serious—ajinkajinks!"

"I did what I thought was right, Cap'n Ezra what I believed you'd think was right. The schooner would have been aground in ten minutes if I hadn't."

"Well, s'pose she would. There'd be boats and a smooth sea."

But Mr. Burke knew she was headed for the shoals. He must have known that. The owners would have—"

"What do you know about the owners and their affairs?"

"She's a bulk, that's all—and is sure."

The reply was an odd one, but the tone in which it was made was odder still. Strange things had happened during the past week; Captain Titcomb's silent illness, the interview the day before leaving New York, the sudden change of mates, the skipper's studied indifference to the demoralization among the crew, Burke's frantic determination to keep on the course set by him even after the proximity to the shoals had been proved beyond a doubt—all these were flung pointing in one direction. Bradley, however, had not looked in that direction. But now the last wisps of fog blew away and he saw clearly.

"Cap'n Ez," he gasped, "Cap'n Ez! Were you going to wreck her on purpose?"

The captain shifted in his seat, but did not look at his companion.

"Orders are orders," he said. "Mr. Burke was your skipper—when he was of the way—and you ought to have minded him, just as I should my own."

"Wreck a vessel for her insurance?" growled Bradley. "I didn't think you'd do it, Cap'n Ez. I didn't think you'd do it."

The diamond, the grievous disappointment and horror in his friend's tone, seemed to hit him like a sledge hammer.

He glanced at Bradley and then looked away again.

"I've heard all sorts of yarns about you in Oranah."

"They say you're too smart and that you'll be watching and all that. I've called those that said it liars, and I've stood by through some of the worst. But now—what do you think they'd say if they knew of this? What do you think Miss Prissy and Miss Tempy would say? Why, they believe you're the best!"

The captain broke in testily. "Never mind all that," he said. "As for Swensen, Wilson and Able Bailey's talk, I don't care a snap. And the old malds ain't exactly up to date in this world's way of looking at things. S'pose the old Dodge was looked for thunderbolt by the shore route. What of it? Mind, I only say s'pose. Better to go that way on a smooth night, with all hands asleep, than to go in a squall and drown us all, as was likely to happen any minute. Nobody loses the insurance anyhow. Why, it's done the hundred times a year all along this coast."

"Member when the Bay Queen piled up the lead in the water last summer?"

Everybody was as astir as could be that 'twas done a purpose, but you couldn't prove nothing. So with the Rhode Harton and Able Banner and any quantity more. S'pose—mind, I'm only s'posing—that you'd get orders from your owners—order, you understand—'to do something you didn't like.' S'pose you'd always stuck to owners' orders a good deal closer'n you had to the Bible? You talk a lot. So do other folks. But what would you do and say?"

"I'd have been honest and said 'No.'"

"Humph. Well, I guess you would. You're the nearest thing to an honest man that I've run across yet. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Cap'n Ez," interrupted Bradley, "stop talking that way. You don't believe a word of it. I know you too well. The trouble with you is that you're always 'owning' orders. I almost think that that accident last night was, as Miss Tempy would say, 'sent to you'—that I've run across you. Honestly is the best policy, they say. But was it honesty that made him the millionaire?"

And a Williams brother's hand, they're always been honest? Just things is in the poorhouse and he's the most honest critter in Oranah, while his brother, who is chairman of school committee, deacon in the church, has money in the bank and would skin the eye-teeth out of a down east horse jockey."

"Well, Brad," he said, "I got my orders."

"Yes, sir," anxiously. "What were they?"

"About the same as the last."

"And what did you say?"

Captain Titcomb leaned over and deliberately knocked his cigar into the center of a cigar box. Then he looked up quickly and answered, with a quizzical smile:

"If you want to know, I told Williams Bros. to go to the devil, and home's bet'n the best policy, you and me's out of a job?"

CHAPTER VIII.

BRADLEY asked Captain Titcomb, creating the morning paper into fobs and tossing it on the bed, "what are you planning to do now that our late lamented owners have committed financial suicide by cutting you off from the flower of your youth, so to speak?"

It was late the morning of the third day after the captain's return from his flying visit to New York. They had said goodbye to the doctor and the perfect crew and were now occupying a room in the United States hotel.

Bradley, who was sitting by the window, looking down upon the hats of the people in the narrow street, answered slowly: "I don't know. I've been waiting to find out what you intended doing."

The captain crossed his legs and tilted back in his chair.

"I ca'n't," he observed, "that I could walk out of this gilded palace of luxury and run afoul of another skipper's berth inside of an hour. Not at my old wages, of course, but a pretty fair berth all the same. But, fact is, Brad, I've had a hank in my main sheet for a considerable spell. I've had a notion that some day I was going to cut loose and cruise on my own hook."

You know I've hinted at it for over a year. Now, it looks as if this was my chance or never. Brad, how'd you like to be a wreckmaster?"

"A wreckmaster?" Bradley's face showed his absolute astonishment.

"Oh, I don't mean the kind of wrecking that is making your eyes stick out at this minute. Do you know Capt. Burgess, Cap'n Jerry's cousin?"

Yes, Bradley knew him. He owned a little schooner that fitted along the Cape Cod coast, picking up floating wreckage when it was of value, dragging for anchors, dredging for chains and ironwork lost by vessels in trouble and doing a sort of nautical old junk business.

Well, went on the captain, "Able's gittin' old, and he'd like to sell out. Most folks think he's scratched a bare livin' from the shoals, but I happen to know that he's done a good deal better than that. The old man told me how much he had in the bank, and it wasn't to be believed. Now, I could buy that schooner of his for a small price, and money would have to be spent on him, but he'd do for a start. You understand the wreckin' business? I'd do it myself, but I'm a little green at the helm. There's money in a first class wreckin' plant on Cape Cod. Wreckin'. Why, they pile up there three deep every winter. Now, listen a minute, while I rise to blow."

Bradley listened, and the captain talked. He had evidently given much thought to the problem, and his plans were ambitious. He believed that if a capable man bought the Lizzie—that was the name of the Burgess schooner—adding her equipment, he could build himself up a profitable business. The salvage of cargoes of stranded schooners and of lost anchors, all these things, and a large part in his plan. One or two good sized jobs of this kind taken on a commission basis would bring in capital enough to start a new business on a bigger vessel, fitted with auxiliary power, fitted with a diving equipment, derricks and the like.

"But wouldn't it take capital?"

"Surely sure. But let me use—prove that the profit's there and the capital'll be donated, like frozen potatoes at a winter's surprise party. Oh, I've thought it out! Now, here's—"

The captain's plan for Bradley's co-operation was, indeed, the Lizzie and the Lizzie would provide the money for buying the Lizzie and whatever else was immediately necessary.

Bradley would contribute his savings to the pile. They were to be partners on equal shares, but Bradley was to pay from his share of whatever profits might come from time to time the amount necessary to make his investment the equal of the captain's.

No new move was to be made without the consent of both partners. It was a very generous offer, and Bradley said so.

"No generosity about it," protested the captain. "I've done it for myself, and need you, as the tipsy man said to the lamp post. I tell you, honest, I shan't go into this thing unless you go in with me. Maybe it's a fool notion anyway. Well, there, he concluded, "now that I've unloaded my mind, we'll go down to the Cape this afternoon. I'll look you over. You take a week to think things over. At the end of the week you can say 'Yes' or 'No.'"

They caught the 4 o'clock train for Oranah.

The "old malds" were washing the supper dishes when Bradley surprised them by walking in. The dinner was over. When the first shock was over the sisters were the most delighted pair in Oranah. They insisted on preparing a supper for Bradley, but he would not accept a morsel of food from them. He had no amount of protestation on his part could change their minds.

They were very curious to know why Bradley had come home so unexpectedly, and when they learned that he had left the Thomas Donee and not only that, but that the captain also had left, they asked one question after another.

Bradley simply said that the captain had other plans and that he couldn't tell what they were yet.

After supper they adjourned to the sitting room. Bradley was uneasy and several times glanced at the clock.

After awhile he said that, if they didn't mind, he should like to go out for an hour or so. Of course, the sisters said, they "didn't mind," and he put on his hat and went.

Miss Prissy's shrewd guess wasn't far wrong. Bradley went out of the Allen gate only to open the one of the alley adjoining. His knock at the side door apparently started a cautious inspection, for there was a tremendous barking and growling inside, and when old Mrs. Baker answered the knock the heads of Tuesday and Winfield, the only survivors of that troop of pets, protruded from either side of her skirt. Both dogs and old lady were surprised and glad to see the visitor.

"Why, Bradley Nickerson!" exclaimed Mrs. Baker. "How do you do? Come right in, won't you? No, don't stand in the hall. It's a prayer meetin' to-night, and she thought she'd go. Well, I'm sorry you won't step in and wait."

The Bakers attended the Baptist church, and thither walked Bradley, his hands in his pockets and his head full of the wrecking scheme.

It was nearly 9 o'clock, and the fence in front of the little church was ornamented by a row of Oranah young men who were waiting for the meeting to come to an end.

Bradley joined the fence brigade and was hailed by half a dozen acquaintances, mostly old schoolfellows. He heard all the news and a lot more that might become news if it ever happened.

Hammond was down last night, so Hart Sars informed him. "Talk about dudes! Say, Snuppy, wasn't he a lilla-crook?"

"I should smile if he wa'n't," replied "Snuppy" Baker. "Gold watch—and clothes! You never saw such clothes! Sam's working for the Metropolitan Wrecking company, and he must be getting rich. And he has a good time in New York. Member those yarns about the girls there?"

Bradley nodded and winked knowingly. "Sam's a great feller for girls," he observed. "He was 'chasin' 'em down here in jest, you know. He was 'chasin' 'em, but Gus can keep him guessin'. He ain't the only one that's been runnin' after her-her, though. Then the whole row laughed uproariously."

Bradley somehow didn't enjoy the rest of the conversation. In the first place, he didn't relish the lies, so said-

Bradley listened, and the captain talked. He had evidently given much thought to the problem, and his plans were ambitious. He believed that if a capable man bought the Lizzie—that was the name of the Burgess schooner—adding her equipment, he could build himself up a profitable business. The salvage of cargoes of stranded schooners and of lost anchors, all these things, and a large part in his plan. One or two good sized jobs of this kind taken on a commission basis would bring in capital enough to start a new business on a bigger vessel, fitted with auxiliary power, fitted with a diving equipment, derricks and the like.

"But wouldn't it take capital?"

"Surely sure. But let me use—prove that the profit's there and the capital'll be donated, like frozen potatoes at a winter's surprise party. Oh, I've thought it out! Now, here's—"

The captain's plan for Bradley's co-operation was, indeed, the Lizzie and the Lizzie would provide the money for buying the Lizzie and whatever else was immediately necessary.

Bradley would contribute his savings to the pile. They were to be partners on equal shares, but Bradley was to pay from his share of whatever profits might come from time to time the amount necessary to make his investment the equal of the captain's.

No new move was to be made without the consent of both partners. It was a very generous offer, and Bradley said so.

"No generosity about it," protested the captain. "I've done it for myself, and need you, as the tipsy man said to the lamp post. I tell you, honest, I shan't go into this thing unless you go in with me. Maybe it's a fool notion anyway. Well, there, he concluded, "now that I've unloaded my mind, we'll go down to the Cape this afternoon. I'll look you over. You take a week to think things over. At the end of the week you can say 'Yes' or 'No.'"

They caught the 4 o'clock train for Oranah.

The "old malds" were washing the supper dishes when Bradley surprised them by walking in. The dinner was over. When the first shock was over the sisters were the most delighted pair in Oranah. They insisted on preparing a supper for Bradley, but he would not accept a morsel of food from them. He had no amount of protestation on his part could change their minds.

They were very curious to know why Bradley had come home so unexpectedly, and when they learned that he had left the Thomas Donee and not only that, but that the captain also had left, they asked one question after another.

Bradley simply said that the captain had other plans and that he couldn't tell what they were yet.

After supper they adjourned to the sitting room. Bradley was uneasy and several times glanced at the clock.

After awhile he said that, if they didn't mind, he should like to go out for an hour or so. Of course, the sisters said, they "didn't mind," and he put on his hat and went.

Miss Prissy's shrewd guess wasn't far wrong. Bradley went out of the Allen gate only to open the one of the alley adjoining. His knock at the side door apparently started a cautious inspection, for there was a tremendous barking and growling inside, and when old Mrs. Baker answered the knock the heads of Tuesday and Winfield, the only survivors of that troop of pets, protruded from either side of her skirt. Both dogs and old lady were surprised and glad to see the visitor.

"Why, Bradley Nickerson!" exclaimed Mrs. Baker. "How do you do? Come right in, won't you? No, don't stand in the hall. It's a prayer meetin' to-night, and she thought she'd go. Well, I'm sorry you won't step in and wait."

The Bakers attended the Baptist church, and thither walked Bradley, his hands in his pockets and his head full of the wrecking scheme.

It was nearly 9 o'clock, and the fence in front of the little church was ornamented by a row of Oranah young men who were waiting for the meeting to come to an end.

Bradley joined the fence brigade and was hailed by half a dozen acquaintances, mostly old schoolfellows. He heard all the news and a lot more that might become news if it ever happened.

Hammond was down last night, so Hart Sars informed him. "Talk about dudes! Say, Snuppy, wasn't he a lilla-crook?"

"I should smile if he wa'n't," replied "Snuppy" Baker. "Gold watch—and clothes! You never saw such clothes! Sam's working for the Metropolitan Wrecking company, and he must be getting rich. And he has a good time in New York. Member those yarns about the girls there?"

Bradley nodded and winked knowingly. "Sam's a great feller for girls," he observed. "He was 'chasin' 'em down here in jest, you know. He was 'chasin' 'em, but Gus can keep him guessin'. He ain't the only one that's been runnin' after her-her, though. Then the whole row laughed uproariously."

Bradley somehow didn't enjoy the rest of the conversation. In the first place, he didn't relish the lies, so said-

Bradley listened, and the captain talked. He had evidently given much thought to the problem, and his plans were ambitious. He believed that if a capable man bought the Lizzie—that was the name of the Burgess schooner—adding her equipment, he could build himself up a profitable business. The salvage of cargoes of stranded schooners and of lost anchors, all these things, and a large part in his plan. One or two good sized jobs of this kind taken on a commission basis would bring in capital enough to start a new business on a bigger vessel, fitted with auxiliary power, fitted with a diving equipment, derricks and the like.

"But wouldn't it take capital?"

"Surely sure. But let me use—prove that the profit's there and the capital'll be donated, like frozen potatoes at a winter's surprise party. Oh, I've thought it out! Now, here's—"

The captain's plan for Bradley's co-operation was, indeed, the Lizzie and the Lizzie would provide the money for buying the Lizzie and whatever else was immediately necessary.

Bradley would contribute his savings to the pile. They were to be partners on equal shares, but Bradley was to pay from his share of whatever profits might come from time to time the amount necessary to make his investment the equal of the captain's.

No new move was to be made without the consent of both partners. It was a very generous offer, and Bradley said so.

"No generosity about it," protested the captain. "I've done it for myself, and need you, as the tipsy man said to the lamp post. I tell you, honest, I shan't go into this thing unless you go in with me. Maybe it's a fool notion anyway. Well, there, he concluded, "now that I've unloaded my mind, we'll go down to the Cape this afternoon. I'll look you over. You take a week to think things over. At the end of the week you can say 'Yes' or 'No.'"

They caught the 4 o'clock train for Oranah.

The "old malds" were washing the supper dishes when Bradley surprised them by walking in. The dinner was over. When the first shock was over the sisters were the most delighted pair in Oranah. They insisted on preparing a supper for Bradley, but he would not accept

A FACT 'BOUT THE "BLUES"

What is known as the "Blues" is seldom occasioned by actual existing external conditions, but in the great majority of cases by a disordered LIVER.

THIS IS A FACT which may be demonstrated by trying a course of

Tutt's Pills

They control and regulate the LIVER. They bring hope and buoyancy to the mind. They bring health and elasticity to the body.

TAKE NO SUBSTITUTE.

Chas. Goff, of Tar Fork, was here Saturday.

Chas. Fallon is ill at his home in the West End.

Dr. S. R. Addison, of Webster, was here Monday.

Wm. Blaine was here from Stephensport Sunday.

Miss Virgie Daniel is visiting in Owensboro.

Miss Carrie Tucker was in Stephensport last week.

Frank Claycomb, of Irvington, was here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Percell were in Evansville Sunday.

Miss Lucetta Miller returned home from Holt Saturday.

Richard Witt, of Ekron, was a guest of J. C. Nolte last week.

Souvenir post cards of local flood scenes at Brabandt's.

Miss Ruth Haynes has returned home from Rockport, Ind.

Mrs. Nathaniel Tucker has been visiting relatives in Stephensport.

Mrs. Hubert Beard was the guest of Mrs. P. L. Lightfoot last week.

Miss Inez Gregory and Mrs. Clyde Morrison went to Louisville Friday.

Frank Ditto, of Arkansas, was the guest of Mrs. J. D. Babbage Monday.

The Breckenridge News and Daily Louisville Herald, both one year for $2.

Miss Elizabeth Skillman returned Saturday from a ten days stay at Louisville.

Sweet potatoes, Baldwin eating apples and oranges at Babbages, the Big Store.

Mrs. Chas. Jackson and daughter, Carrie Mae, went to Stephensport Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Windelkin and daughter have gone to Richmond to live.

John T. Ditto was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Babbage Saturday and Sunday.

The Misses Willis entertained Misses

Evelyn Herndon and Reba Lewis at dinner Sunday.

Call at Preston's for the best flour.

Mrs. Jake Morrison is on the sick list.

Lump coal, 12 cents per bushel in 25 bushel lots, at City Coal Co.

Mrs. J. H. Willis went to Hawesville Sunday.

Miss Annie Jarboe is visiting at Skillman.

Mrs. T. F. Sawyer is visiting relatives in Hawesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lishen will live in Mattoon, Ill.

Miss Mattie Sterrette, of Skillman, is the guest of relatives.

Born, Feb. 16, to the wife of John Neubeaur, a boy, Currie.

Mrs. L. B. Sawyer is in Hawesville with her mother, who is ill.

Miss Kate Oglesby entertained the Ladies Reading Club last Thursday.

The Louisville Daily Herald and the Breckenridge News both for one year for $2.

Lump coal, 12 cents per bushel in 25 bushel lots, at City Coal Co.

Mrs. J. H. Stites, of Louisville, was here Saturday, the guest of Mrs. J. H. Wille.

Mrs. J. H. Willis spent Sunday in Hawesville with her cousin, Mr. Steve Hawley.

The Epworth League will give a Martha Washington social Friday evening at Oelze's Hall.

Armistice's Magazine, The Ladies Home Journal and all the late magazines for sale at the News Office.

Morrison & Calhoun, dentists, office downtown, 265 Fourth street, both phones, Owensboro, Ky.

Lump coal, 12 cents per bushel in 25 bushel lots, at City Coal Co.

Peters Lee, of the Lee Line of Cincinnati—Memphis packets, passed up Monday noon, landing here.

Tracing paper for embroidery purposes for sale at the News Office. 10 cents per sheet, postage 1 cent.

Andrew Claycomb, of Stephensport, visited his sister, Mrs. J. R. Williams, the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Adams and son, Clarence, spent Thursday in Louisville with Mrs. Truman Adams.

George Powers died at his home in Cannellton last Wednesday. He was a brother of Mrs. David Wilson.

Mrs. Fred Fraize is the guest of Mrs. R. N. Hudson at Versailles. She will return home the middle of March.

Miss Josie Berry returned to Henderson Monday after a short visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Berry.

Mrs. J. T. Lewis will entertain this week at a Tacky Party in honor of her guest, Miss Evelyn Herndon, of Ekron.

Miss Addie G. Ditto was called to Brandenburg Sunday to be at the bedside of Mrs. Wm. Ditto who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hambleton have returned home from a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Ernest Pate at Evansville.

If you want to make your wife happy get her a sack of Lewisport Flour sold in Cloverport by Preston, Williams and O'Connell.

Mr. M. N. Robbins has moved here from Hardinsburg. He is a good substantial citizen and we welcome him to our town.

Frank Fraize will be 74 years of age next Friday, Feb. 22. He is hale and hearty and a very well preserved man for his age.

Lump coal, 12 cents per bushel in 25 bushel lots, at City Coal Co.

Little Miss Effie Orum, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. James Taul, of Evansville, for several weeks, has returned home.

Mrs. James Williams, of Waitman, Mr. Sam Porter, of Matton, Ill., and Ed. Porter, of Owensboro, are here to see their father who is very low with cancer.

"Aunt" Polly Board, colored for many years a faithful servant of Mrs. Frank Fraize died Friday night. The funeral was held Sunday at the colored Methodist church.

Rev. B. M. Currie announces that the annual protracted meeting of the Methodist church will begin the fourth Sunday in March. Rev. Thomas of Owensboro assisting.

Call for the Lewisport flour on sale at O'Connell's.

Miss Lydia Frank left Monday for Louisville to spend a month there. In a wholesale millinery house to study the spring styles in hats.

Mr. Fred Fraize left last week for Florida to be gone until the fourteenth of March. During his absence Mrs. Fraize will visit her sister, Mrs. R. N. Hudson at Versailles.

Mrs. Chas. Bouffier and children have been here visiting her mother, Mrs. Hamman and other relatives. She will leave shortly for Stonega, Va., where Mr. Bouffier has a position.

Lump coal, 12 cents per bushel in 25 bushel lots, at City Coal Co.

When you write mention THE NEWS.

Martha Washington
at Home

Friday Evening
Feb. 22, 1907

At Oelze's Hall.

Refreshments served by Martha's Slaves.

A 10 CENT
BOTTLE OF
"GLYCERINE LOTION" works wonders on Chapped Skin.
SEVER'S DRUG CO.

Wants.

Advertisements inserted under this head at one cent a word per week.

WANTED—Young girl for light house work. Good home and wages. M. H. Frankfort, Ave. Louisville, Ky.

FOR SALE—Book on Hypnotism and Therapeutics. Teacher personal manuscript; etc. 30 pages, well bound. Price $5.00. Breckenridge News.

FOR SALE—20 acres of land, one house and barn. Plenty of water. Price, $800. on easy terms. For further information see A. W. Powers, Dukes, Ky.

WANTED—Ten men to sell fruit trees. Cash in advance weekly. W. R. Ashby & Sons, Cloverport, Ky.

FOR SALE—A good sewing machine for $50. For particulars write to the following address: Box 30, Cloverport, Ky.

FOR SALE—An "ideal" cash register for sale. For Particulars write to The Breckenridge News, Cloverport, Ky.

WANTED—Ash Logs and Cord Material for Handicraft. (Owensboro Shore) and Tool Co., Owensboro, Ky.

FOR SALE—A tuition certificate in the Bowling Green Business College. Breckenridge News.

FOR SALE—Gold ring, with pretty setting, worth $1 for $1.25. Exchange Department, of Breckenridge News, Cloverport, Ky.

FOR SALE—100 acres of land lying on the branch railroad near Kirk. 100 acres cleared up in wood land. Good barn, 16 acres in mow. 2000 bushels of tobacco, corn or wheat. $1500 cash. For further particulars write the Breckenridge News, Cloverport, Ky.

FOR SALE—Printing Presses and Cutting machines and one lot of good Laundry machines. Also new and second-hand Gas and Gasoline Engines.—MARTIN O'BLE, 516 3rd Street, Louisville, Ky.

DR. TAYLOR,
Representing
TAYLOR & KEENE,
DENTISTS
OF OWENSBORO,
Will be in Cloverport on date announced later.

MEET ME AT NOLTE'S.

Those who are getting ready for their Tobacco Crops please keep us in mind on

TOBACCO CLOTH

We will be glad to supply your wants while it lasts.

J. C. Nolte & Bro.

Cloverport, Ky.

DO YOUR BAKING
for extra entertaining.
Not unless you have provided yourself with a sack of

Ready To

CADICK'S
GOLD DUST
FLOUR

If you have never tried it, it's a good time now. You'll get the opinion of your friends. If they are enthusiastic in their praises of your delicious bread, rolls, cakes and pastry remember it's due to Cadick's Gold Dust Flour.

MAKERS,
Grandview, Ind.

AUCTION

CLEARANCE SALE

DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, Boots, Shoes. Clothing, Hats, Caps, Hardware, Tinware, Queensware and everything else found in an up-to-date store.

Everything goes under the Hammer without regard to cost.

We must have room for new Spring Stock

This is the time of your life to get bargains

Sale Commences

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1907, and continues two days.

GLASSCOCK & CO.,

Glendean, Ky.

CHRIS AHL, Auctioneer.

FEARFUL ITCHING BURNING SORES

Boy in Misery 12 Years—Eczema
Spread Over Body in Rough Scales, Cracked, Inflamed, and Swollen—Case Pronounced Incurable, but Completely Cured by Two Sets of Cuticura Remedies.

HIS SKIN NOW FINE AND SMOOTH AS SILK

"I wish to inform you that your wonderful Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. The longer the doctors treated him the worse it grew. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed, and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching.
When I think of his suffering, it nearly breaks my heart. His screams could be heard downstairs. The sufferings of my son made me full of misery. I had no ambition to work, to eat, nor could I sleep.

"One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up for a bad job. One evening I saw an article in the paper about the wonderful Cuticura and decided to give it a trial.
"I tell you that Cuticura Ointment is worth its weight in gold, and when I had used the first box of Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Summer Avenue, Brooklyn,
N. Y., April 16, 1905."

FOR WOMAN'S EYE

Too much stress cannot be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills in antiseptic cleansing, thus affording pure, sweet, and economical local and constitutional treatment for inflammations, itchings, irritations, relaxations, displacements, and pains, as well as such symptomatic affections as anemia, chlorosis, hysteria, nervousness, and debility.

Sold throughout the world. Foster Drug &
Chem. Co., New York. Breckenridge News is Mail Free, How to Cure Skin Diseases.

Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 13.—The Rev. W. G. Archer of this city has accepted a call to the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Evansville.

Piles of people have Piles. Why suffer from piles when you can use DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve and get relief. Nothing else so good. Beware of imitations. See that the name is stamped on each box. Sold by all druggists.

Joe Mulhatten, Jr.

Imitations of the Greater Louisville Exposition are still strongly in evidence. In all likelihood Kansas City will follow Louisville's lead next year according to the latest advices from the city on the Kaw.

Ask your Dealer for DIAMOND BRAND SH

© 2006 The Authors
Journal compilation © 2006 Blackwell Publishing Ltd

C. H. HUNGERFORD

J. C. BEAM, Ass't. Gen. Pass. Agt., ST. LOUIS

Lawrence A. Murray,
Cloverport, Kentucky,
Breeder of
Single Comb
White Leghorns,
Single Comb
Brown Leghorns
Setting, 15 Eggs, $1.50.
Fertility Guaranteed.

VULCAN "BEST CHILLED" PLOWS
Made by The Vulcan Plow Co.,
EVANSVILLE, IND.
TRY THE VULCAN
Well Finished, Strong, Durable, Light Draft.
Rib Strengthened Mold, Full Chilled Shimpice, Interlocked Point, Land and Standard. Point has Face Chill, Wide Edge Chill, Long Snoot Chill, Patented Extension and is the STRONGEST and MOST DURABLE Chilled Point made.
When buying a Plow, Consider Quality First. Price Second.

Glasscock & Co., - Glendean.
Full supply on hand.

GREATER LOUISVILLE EXPOSITION
ONE FARE FOR ROUND TRIP BY RAIL OR RIVER
MAR 18-30
CREATORE AND HIS BAND
Government Exhibits
and other Great Attractions
PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT 25¢
WILL TOUCH THE BUTTON LETS YOU SEE IT ALL
INDUSTRY, INVENTION ART AND LITERATURE

5% BY MAIL
Put Your Money
where it will grow faster than in any other safe way. Write for our free book "How to Invest Your Money" and we will send you a copy of our
"Money" book.
OWENSBORO SAVINGS
BANK & TRUST COMPANY
OWENSBORO, KY.

KILL THE COUGH AND CURE THE LUNGS
WITH Dr. King's New Discovery
FOR CONSUMPTION
Price 50¢ and 80¢ and $1.00
Free Trial.
Surest and Quickest Cure for all THROAT AND LUNG TROUBLES, or MONEY BACK.

Brightest! Snappiest! Best!
The Louisville Times fills the bill. Published every week-day afternoon. You keep posted on EVERYTHING when you read THE TIMES. Regular subscription price, $5.00 a year.
You can get THE TIMES and
BRECKENRIDGE NEWS
Both One Year
For only $5.00 Combination Price
Send your order to this paper,
BRECKENRIDGE NEWS,
Cloverport, Ky.

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The Grand Jury adjourned Saturday after having returned eighteen indictments, all of them being from misdemeanors except one.
Court will probably continue until Wednesday of next week.
Among the visiting attorneys attending court have been, John Graham, Leitchfield; John Hardin, Brandenburg; H. S. Morris, Henderson; V. G. Habbage, Cloverport; James M. Lynch, Kankakee, Ill.; James R. Skillman and R. A. Miller of Owensboro.

No civil cases were tried last week.
The Grand Jury investigated the alleged hold-up of the coal train at Cloverport, but did not return an indictment in connection with it.

The trial of John Henry Clarke charged with the murder of John A. Coke, was commenced Thursday and continued until Saturday evening, when the jury returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at life imprisonment. The jury were, Tram Heatty, Joe Elder, D. N. Howard, R. D. St. Clair, Kimball Harmon, R. B. Cox, Minor Compton, Lewis Payne, Larkin Gibson, Virgil Pool, Fred Moorman and Henry Skillman. Mercer and Mercer and W. S. Proctor, of Leitchfield, were the attorneys for the defense. The Commonwealth was represented by J. K. Layman, Gus Brown and Murray & Murray. The defendant will probably take an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

Will Bradley, the colored boy who killed John Starkis, also colored, near Irvington, was given a twenty years sentence in the penitentiary.

The petit jury is composed of the following gentlemen: Kimball Harmon, Eli Fisher, Lewis Shellman, Richard Pumphrey, C. H. Simmons, Dan Burks, Rufus St. Clair, James Durham, Geo. W. Burton, P. M. Beard, J. W. Kennedy, J. C. Brodie, R. B. Cox, Clyde A. Hicks, W. W. Pool, A. N. Skillman, D. N. Howard, S. R. Bundy, D. W. Henry, Trammell Beatty, Nat Tucker, Henry Davis, Thos. A. Gray and David Allgood.

George Douglas was convicted of breaking into the store house of Frank Fraize and stealing wearing apparel therefrom, and given one year in the penitentiary.

IRVINGTON.

Mrs. Bert Cunningham, of Chenault, accompanied by the Gardner twins came Saturday for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gardner.

Mrs. C. L. Chamberlain left Thursday for Lebanon, Ky., where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Montgomery for some time.

Miss Lillie McGlothlin and niece, Mable McGlothlin, returned Saturday from Hardinburg after spending a few days there visiting.

Mrs. Nannie Wathen and Miss Ella Stuart left Monday for an indefinite visit to relatives in Louisville.

Mrs. P. E. Dempster, after a visit to Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Dempster returned home Friday.

Misses Lydia and Nannie McGhee arrived Friday from Gulf Port, Mississippi, where they have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Avitt.

Mrs. Orrie Woolfolk, of Brandenburg, spent Wednesday and Thursday the guests of Miss Ruth Miller.

Miss Ollie May Clarkson, of Big Spring, will return home this week after being the guest of her sister, Mrs. Harry H. Kemper.

George Drury and R. B. McGlothlin were in Garfield Saturday on a business trip.

Mrs. Clint Beauchamp and children left last week for Hawesville after an extended visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Handy spent Sunday in Guston the guests of Mrs. Forrest Stith.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wilson and children left Saturday for Harned for a several weeks visit to relatives.

The Sunbeam Society of the Baptist church will meet next Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the church. All the little tots are invited to come.

Mrs. Susie Johnson and brothers, Charlie and John Johnson, of Cloverport spent Saturday and Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Chapin.

Mr. Bert Cunningham and grand son Lamar Gardner, left for Chenault Sunday.

Mrs. S. P. Parks has returned from Brandenburg where she spent several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis.

Capt. Proctor, of Louisville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Herndon a few days last week.

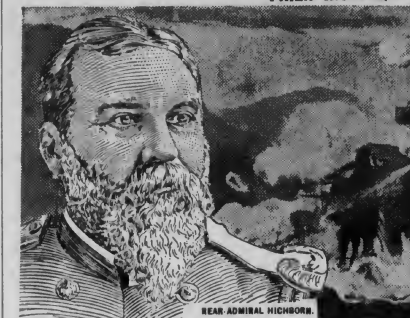

Mr. Lonnie Dowell bought a farm of 167 acres of Mr. George Ashcraft of near town last week. Consideration $800. Mr. Ashcraft expects to move his family West in a short time.

Two splendid sermons were preached at the Methodist church last Sunday

REAR-ADMIRAL HICHBORN PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

Peruna Drug Co.,
Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—After the use of Peruna for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic.
Very respectfully,
PHILIP HICHBORN.

REAR ADMIRAL HICHBORN.

IF ALL the men and women who have used Peruna and found it beneficial should write testimonials giving the plain facts, we would be overwhelmed with certificates.

But only now and then one who has been benefited by Peruna stops to give any public acknowledgment of a cure.

Various considerations prevent people from writing testimonials for publication. Inordinate modesty, oversensitiveness and business considerations forbid many people from writing testimonials who otherwise would be glad to do so.

All Classes Represented.

But in spite of all these considerations, thousands of people without any solicitation whatever do write testimonials for Peruna.

We receive these from men of high degree, slow degree, from the army and the navy, from the hall of congress, from the colleges, from high officials in the church, from the society belle and the washerwoman, from the military man and the civilian.

We have never put into print but a small per cent. of those actually received.

Sincere Testimony.

In presenting the testimonial of Admiral Highborn we appreciate the high rank of our testifier.

We feel sure that his testimonial will appeal to others as it does to us, that nothing but a genuine wish to do others good would have impelled a man in such honorable rank to give public testimony to any remedy, however valuable.

The Admiral is altogether too busy a man to answer letters of inquiry, but the reader can rest assured that his testimony is given in his exact words, over his signature.

Genuine Endorsements.

Our testimonials are and always have been given in the exact language of the testifier, with which we take no liberties whatever in adding to or changing them.

In the use of testimonials we have always received them properly signed, in good faith, have published them in good faith, and if there has arisen a slight misunderstanding concerning them, it has been some unavoidable complication occurring after the testimonial has been furnished us.

A Captain's Letter.

Rudolph B. Bohwiokard, Capt. 8th N. Y. Vol. Inf., writes from Washington, D. C.:
"Having the fullest confidence in the efficacy of Peruna, both as a tonic and as a remedy for catarrhal trouble, I commend its use in the strongest possible terms. It should be in every household."

By their pastor, Rev. B. F. Wilson.

Good attendance both times.

Miss Addie G. Litto, of Louisville, stopped off Tuesday on her way to Cloverport and was the guest of Miss Ella Munford.

Mr. Camp Henderson is remodeling his old home near Webster. Mr. Clarence Penick of this place is the contractor.

Nick Henry has returned to Chicago, Illinois, after a brief visit to his parents.

McGlothlin & Dorio have bought a fine tract of timber from Earl Bennett and will begin business at once.

The Foreign Missionary Society will meet at the Methodist church on Tuesday afternoon. A special program is arranged and every one is invited to come.

Miss Lena Hensely has returned to Hardinburg after being the guest of Mrs. F. H. McGhee.

BIG SPRING.

Miss Myrtle Moorman has gone to Murray, Ky., to visit her sister Mrs. Graham.

Mr. Ben Clarkson was in Brandenburg last week and purchased four head of work mules.

Born, to the wife of Alvin Tate Feb. 10th, a fine girl.

Mr. Jess Clarkson has returned to Louisville where he has been under treatment of Dr. D. M. Matthews.

Miss Carrie Milward has returned to her home in Louisville after a six-week catalogue, etc. It was decided that the first Fair should be held for three days, commencing Tuesday, Aug. 27th.

The committees were all urged to commence operations as soon as possible, and the Secretary was instructed to commence advertising at once. There was much enthusiasm displayed and the Association congratulated itself very much on the report of the Committee on purchase of site.

This committee reported that it had purchased the Foreman tract of land, consisting of about 100 acres, for $2000.

FIRST FAIR AUG 27.

Breckenridge Fair Association
Has Completed All Arrangements.

Hardinburg, Feb. 19.—(Special.)—The Directors of the Breckenridge Fair Association met Monday listened to the report of committees appointed at the last meeting, to arrange the grounds, erect buildings, procure water, arrange premium list, make program, issue catalogue, etc. It was decided that the first Fair should be held for three days, commencing Tuesday, Aug. 27th. The committees were all urged to commence operations as soon as possible, and the Secretary was instructed to commence advertising at once. There was much enthusiasm displayed and the Association congratulated itself very much on the report of the Committee on purchase of site.

This committee reported that it had purchased the Foreman tract of land, consisting of about 100 acres, for $2000.

that they had sold about 25 acres with the improvements for $1,000, leaving about seventy-five acres, about 30 of which is in timber, costing the Association $1,000. It is estimated that the timber on the tract is worth more than $200, and the buildings will be so located that the Association will be able to dispose of 40 to 50 acres more of the land, leaving their Fair site practically without cost. The Association is very much encouraged by interest at home and inquiries from a distance.

A liquid cold relief with a laxative principle which drives out the cold through a copious action of the bowels, and a healing principle which lingers in the throat and stops the cough—that is Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. Safe and sure in its action; pleasant to taste; and conforms to National Pure Food and Drug Law. Contains no opiates. Sold by all druggists.

"LE ROY PLOWS"

improving the lives of HORSES and MEN. They draw EASY, they HOLD EASY. They do smooth and hold to the ground when steady. They clear well, they loose soil. They wear well. Not the cheapest but the best. Made by Le Roy Plow Co., Le Roy, N. Y. Le Roy Plows for sale by Conrad, Payne & Co., Cloverport.

FASTIDIOUS WOMEN
constantly exacting Toilet Antiseptic a necessity for the hygienic care of the person and for local treatment of impure blood. As a wash its cleansing, germicidal, deodorizing and healing qualities are extraordinary. For sale at Druggists. Free. Address Dr. R. Paxton Cox, Boston, Mass.

H. DeH. MOORMAN,
Attorney at Law,
HARDINBURG, KY.
Will practice his profession in all of the Courts of Breckinridge and adjoining counties. Special attention given to collecting rents, and criminal practice. License to practice in United States District Courts. Office over Bank of Hardinburg.

Kodol FOR DYSPEPSIA
DIGESTS WHAT YOU EAT
Relieves indigestion, Sour Stomach, Bloating of Gas, Etc.
E. C. DOWITT & COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.
For Sale by all Druggists